FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FleetWeather's Marine Forecast Team Prepares Tropical Guardian Notification and Advisory Service for Upcoming Atlantic Hurricane Season

Professional Advisory Service Prepared Daily by FleetWeather's Meteorologists Specifically for Yacht Captains

HOPEWELL JUNCTION, NY June 6, 2011 – FleetWeather, one of the premier global marine weather routing and forecasting services for yachts and commercial ships, is in the process of preparing for the upcoming Atlantic tropical season with its Tropical Guardian daily email notification and advisory service designed specifically for professional yacht captains. FleetWeather's Tropical Guardian Service dispatches detailed advisory information via email about tropical systems present throughout the Atlantic and Eastern Pacific and is prepared daily by FleetWeather's team of professional meteorologists. This service provides vital information to yacht captains helping them to make timely and strategic decisions to ensure the safety of their crew, passengers and vessel.

FleetWeather's Tropical Guardian Service provides daily notifications and advisories throughout the complete tropical season. Subscribers to this service receive daily email updates prepared by FleetWeather's team of professional marine meteorologists about any tropical system that may develop or threaten a voyage in the Atlantic or Eastern Pacific. The updates include daily tropical synopsis and discussion for any system including wind speed, track direction, and future positions. This valuable service is a must for all yachts needing to operate during tropical season and is one of FleetWeather's most popular services. This service provides advanced tropical information helping yachts stay safe by providing them with accurate information in time to revise routes or seek shelter from a developing system.

Tropical Guardian subscriptions are available from FleetWeather each year from June 1st to November 30th, monthly for USD $75 or seasonally for USD $500. For more information, please contact FleetWeather anytime (24/7) by phone: +1 845-226-8400 or you may download information and samples on the "services" page at: www.yachtweather.com.

In addition to yacht captains, FleetWeather's Tropical Guardian service is also a valuable tool for many other types of professionals that can benefit from advanced tropical notifications including yacht owners, yacht clubs, marinas, boat yards, coastal businesses, commercial property managers, recreational facilities, golf courses, car and boat dealerships, sports facilities, outdoor venues in coastal areas, contractors, roofers and construction companies.

About FleetWeather Ocean Services

FleetWeather Ocean Services (www.shiprouting.com) is a worldwide provider of professional marine weather routing services and a member of the FleetWeather Group of Companies (www.fleetweathergroup.com). Established in 1969, FleetWeather is located in Hopewell Junction, NY about 75 miles north of New York City in the well-known Hudson Valley area of New York State. FleetWeather is best known for providing professional marine weather forecasting, routing assistance, and ship performance monitoring for commercial ships worldwide. FleetWeather provides live service, assistance and support from its Global Operations Center 24 hours a day, 365 day a year. FleetWeather's unique business model focuses on providing a high level of personal and customized service in an industry where others traditionally deemphasize personal service and focus strictly on automation. FleetWeather celebrates its 42nd year in business and has managed over 86,000 voyages to date. FleetWeather's marine team is comprised of marine meteorologists, professional ship routers, claims specialists and forensic weather experts.

FleetWeather's Yacht Division (www.yachtweather.com) is one of the premier sources for global marine weather decision assistance for motor and sailing yachts of all sizes specializing in Mega Yachts and Super Yachts. FleetWeather provides global marine weather forecasting, routing assistance, transit advice and guidance, and live consultations with our marine meteorologists and ship routers 24/7/365. FleetWeather is known for accurate forecasts, reliable advice and the best service in the yachting industry.
